

Abstract submitted for Thirty-Third Annual Victorian Algebra Conference

---

Title: Using algebra to avoid robots

Author(s): Mr Murray Neuzerling

---

Qualitative calculi are algebraic models of reasoning that have found application in robotics, planetary rovers, ship navigation and bird flocking. We discuss methods of determining if reasoning with constraints over a qualitative calculus is tractable, and offer some small examples.